

STATUS KINGDOM

We all have our personal status in life which changes according to the different situations that we are in (home, work, friends, etc.).

This workshop teaches you how to choose the right status for the right situation and experience the improvement it brings to your communication skills. Try out new identities, play with your possibilities and expand your personal experience.

WORKSHOP FOCUS

- being the confident leader and being the smart follower
- expanding your options of “being”- what other possibilities you have to communicate with clients and team members?
- body language – master it and use it as you choose
- when to be what – the choices and changes that you can make in your personal status that will immediately benefit the situation

WHAT IS YOUR BENEFIT?

- improve the awareness of your team members about their strengths and weaknesses
- have agile team members with adaptive body language and confident presence
- learn a bigger range of social tools and skills and use them inside the company and with clients
